DETAILED ACTION

1. Upon further review of the Anderson reference and applicant's specification, the allowable subject matter of claim 2 has been withdrawn because the examiner had previously misinterpreted claim 2. The examiner's interpretation of polymeric monoaryl sulfonamide includes situations such as those described in Anderson below where a polymeric amine is reacted with an aryl monosulfonyl. The product of this reaction is a polymeric monoaryl sulfonamide. The examiner apologizes for this oversight.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 2, 3, 7, 9, and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Anderson et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,194,498).

For claims 2, 3, 9, and 26, in Column 8, lines 45-62, Example A, Anderson teaches the preparation of a halosulfonyl compound containing a monocyclic monoaryl group along with a diamine in the presence of an acid acceptor. The product of the reaction of polymeric amine with an aryl monosulfonyl is a polymeric monoaryl sulfonamide. For claim 7, here, Anderson teaches JEFFAMINE D-400, a polyether containing polymeric diamine. The product produced from this reaction would inherently be able to function as a pigment dispersing agent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 1712

7. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anderson et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,194,498) as applied to claim 2 above.

For claim 2, Anderson teaches the limitations of the claim as detailed above. In Example A, Anderson teaches that potassium carbonates may be used as acid acceptors. Anderson fails to expressly teach sodium carbonate.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use sodium carbonate as an acid acceptor. The motivation would have been that Weaver teaches the broad genus of alkali metal carbonates. Sodium carbonate is a well-known and common alkali metal carbonate, and thus one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to use such a carbonate in exercising the invention.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 2, 3, and 7-9 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 10-21, 23, and 25 are allowed.

10. Claims 4-6, 22, 24, and 27 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
